Educational Value

A. To General Education
1. Development of talent, appreciation of music and fine art in general, and enriches knowledge of general history and fine arts.

B. To Major/Program
1. To provide lower division private lessons for transfer string majors and minor students.

C. Other
1. To give the student some insight into the technical problems involved in playing the strings.
2. Knowledge of string literature enriches the study of history and other fine arts.
3. There is a correlation between playing the strings and other skills requiring finger dexterity.
Description
Continuation of MUS 184. Private instruction in stringed instruments: violin, viola, violoncello, and contrabass. All private instruction is given on levels of skill determined by the instructor. Numbers for this instruction begin with the sub-collegiate level, MUS 014 and range upward to four complete semesters of private study. (One lesson per week earns one hour credit.) Participation in semester recitals and/or juries required. A private lesson course fee is required.
